All this will not be finished in the first one hundred days.
Nor will it be finished in the first one thousand days, not in the life of this Administration, nor even perhaps in our lifetime on this planet.

But let us begin.

Inaugural Address (1)," January 20, 1961,

Anne used this in the 1st Issue of the Teeple People.

Dear Cousins,

Time passes so quickly! The first issue of Teeple People was printed Nov 1989.
This marks the 90th issue and the start of the 30th year of our publication.

This issue will be dedicated to our editor for 28 years—Anne Rahamut. She was so beneficial in gathering the Teeple Family information and sharing this information with all Teeple researchers.

Thank you Anne! We will miss you!

In Loving Memory of Anne Rahamut

The Hall - 2017 Swinton Park

Sept 21 2016

On Thursday October 17, 2019, with cousins Wendy and Gail and caregiver, Emily, by her side, Anne Rahamut (nee Haeberlin) passed away peacefully at the North York General Hospital. Anne was born February 22, 1936 and predeceased by her parents, Paul and Emma Haeberlin. Anne graduated from McMaster University with a Masters degree in Science and was an inspiring influence over many lives in her career as a teacher of Science at Etobicoke and Richview Collegiates in Toronto. Early on in her teaching she decided to see the world and took a two year posting in Marville, France at the Canadian Air Force base there to teach the children of the servicemen stationed overseas. This offered many opportunities for exploring other parts of Europe during her stint.

Anne met her truelove, Patrick, in Barbados where they were both vacationing. A few years later they were married in Toronto where they lived and cherished each other for 44 years. Anne and Pat were both 'hands on' kind of people with multiple interests and inquiring minds that enjoyed problem solving and getting to the heart of a matter. In her spare time Anne would always be taking extra courses to satisfy her thirst for knowledge and earned a Master of Philosophy degree in Egyptology. Others would be photography, computer skills, Ojibway language, stained glass so that she and Pat could make beautiful cathedral shaped windows for the Hall, pottery, scuba diving and too many others to mention.

Anne and Pat shared many interests, such as The Hall at Swinton Park where they spent many summers and, when not there, travelled to unusual destinations, including parts of the Arctic, Resolute Island; camping on Baffin Island and watching narwhals and belugas; to Churchill in search of polar bears and the Northern lights; another favorite was the southwestern area of the U.S. to see the desert in bloom; also spending a couple of weeks to explore the back streets and canals of Venice as well as touring England, Scotland and other interesting destinations.

They had a love of felines and when they ceased keeping their own, would foster them for short periods to determine and observe their behaviour; and, many hours were spent going to the Humane Society to help build shelters for feral cats during the winter.

One of Anne's on-going pastimes was her unending research into family history, to the extent that for one line in the family tree, she even published a newsletter called 'Teeple People' three times a year. As her skills and knowledge increased with the Teeple line her research could provide information to family members that could even make a difference to their lives.

In Anne's memory, donations can be made to the Toronto Humane Society or the Salvation Army.

Anne lived her life to its fullest as a student, as a teacher, as a volunteer, and would always make time for family and friends and those dearest to her. She will be missed.

Anne was always a pleasure to visit with and to work with in attempting to extend our knowledge of the Teeple family and its thousands of members. She paid attention to the details and maintained an excellent memory of those details for many years. She was faithful in her publication of the Teeple People newsletter and she did more than anyone before her to extend the community knowledge of the family history. She already IS missed.

What an amazing life! I met Anne and Pat a few years back at a Teeple People gathering in Columbus, Ohio. I enjoyed the conversation we had and I am not surprised to read that she was a teacher and a world traveler. I can only imagine how many lives she had touched while on this earth. I still enjoy my copies of Teeple People. I am saddened to hear of her passing. To those who love her the most, I am sending prayers your way from the Knobs of Kentucky.

As a young kid I was very much in awe of cousin Anne and I remember her from our times at Otty Lake in Perth. Later in life we were so lucky to really get to know both Anne and Pat and they visited us many times here in North Hatley. We loved both of them and I'm so glad our boys were able to get to know them as well. We will miss her greatly and hope that she and Pat are together again.

Pat Hiatt (I was one of her many Teeple cousins)Entered October 23, 2019 from Greenwood, Indiana, USA*

sincerely, Pat Hiatt. Descendant of John Teeple and Sophia Guest from Ohio then back to New Jersey

A letter from Gail Beal*Anne's Cousin*Dec 9, 2019

Dear Kathy

The bouquet of red roses you sent in Anne's honour on behalf of the Teeple People subscribers was truly magnificent. It certainly was a beautiful tribute to her founding of the Teeple People newsletter and her many years of devoted research in locating family members and confirming their family lines.

Anne would be truly excited when she could officially validate an ancestral connection and to which Teeple line it belonged.

When she ran out of Teeples she expanded her research to other lines starting with her own parents , along with the various siblings and cousins attached to a branch of that family tree. It staggers the mind how she could keep it all straight.

The arrival of home computers and the internet opened many new doors and resources to family history researchers as did adding DNA results to use as a reliable resource.

Research was often an excuse for many travels to explore family connections. Some trips centered around family reunions that she enjoyed so she could "introduce" herself as a member of the "broader" family and explain how she was related to her new found family members. ( Was she a 1st ,2nd, 3rd, 4th or 5th cousin and possibly once or twice removed?) Later on she would have to promise her ever patient husband, Pat that there would be no research while on holiday. ( It would not stop her though from perusing the local telephone book for Teeples).

Kathy , these are just a few recollections I thought you might like to include in your next Teeple People.

Gail ( Howard ) Beal ( Anne's maternal 1st cousin).

Anne's mother was Emma McLaren( Haeberlin). Emma's sister Edith Maud McLaren ( Howard) was Gail's mother.

Anne's family tree was printed in Teeple People Issue 17-4.

This book was published by Anne in 2005. It was with the files that were collected as Anne was giving up her Teeple Research.

This was written about her great grandparents Walter Haeberlin and Marie C Hollman.

The beautiful irony is that our loss is another's reunion. ♥
